

SEASONAL PLANTING GUIDE

SPRING

The first signs of brilliant green heralding the arrival of a splash of vibrant colours makes Spring a time of beauty and wonder. Leaves begin to unfurl, flowers begin to blossom and the earth receives a new breath of life. Spring truly is a beautiful season for gardening.

SEPTEMBER

September presents a fantastic opportunity to take advantage of those extra daylight hours. Kick off the vibrant season by priming your soil.

Lightly dig up the top soil to loosen all those wonderful nutrients and mix in some compost or manure.

Once your soil is primed and ready to go, try adding some colour to your garden to really make those colours pop.

Flowers -

OCTOBER

October is a big month in the garden with a huge variety of plants to choose from. It's a good idea to start this month off by checking for weeds and pests.

By now your soil should be perfectly designed to grow anything in season including vibrant healthy fruit and vegetables.

So take your pick, get out in the sun and start planting! For recommendations on what best to plant, check our suggestions below

NOVEMBER

November marks the end of the vibrant Spring season as we make our way into the hot summer - a great opportunity to get some greens into your garden patch.

Start by mulching and then planting all of your herbs. Coriander is perfect to plant now for harvest in the summer salad season.

Make sure you couple them with some of your flowering plants too. They'll attract pollinators which help your garden thrive.
