QUEEN HOT PINK

The Queen series of Princettia are new for 2024. The Queens have a larger bract and leaf size and the plant fills a 200cm pot quite quickly. The Queen Princettia are the stand out for the garden. Available in 175mm pots for Winter. Queen Pink is available this season with more colours to join the range in the future.

Did you know...

the Princettia® was bred in Australia?

After 10 years of breeding, Bonza Botanicals made the breakthrough in this new hybrid. Crossing a wild Poinsettia from Mexico, the pink colour was established. The worlds first pink Poinsettia, 'Princettia' was born and now available in multiple shades and even a pure white.

Salanova Lettuce

The greatest breeding in lettuce! The Salanova lettuce is the range of lettuce with the convenience of being ready to eat with one cut. With just one cut at the base of the salanova, the lettuce separates into multiple evenly proportioned ready to eat baby sized leaves. Three times more leaves than a traditional lettuce. Available in 4 packs and ready to be planted into bowls or the garden for the premium lettuce experience.

Kale Candy Crush

Add a splash of colour to your garden and your plate with the world's first edible ornamental purple kale! This fluorescent pink/purple annual adds loads of nutrition to your cooking. It's filled with healthy antioxidants and has a surprisingly sweet aftertaste – unlike its bitter-tasting family members.

It reshoots after cutting to provide a long harvest period. Candy Crush keeps its colour when cooked and can be eaten raw in salads or tossed through a stir fry for a splash of colour. Perfect for pots and containers as well as in-ground growing.

THE DIGGERS CLUB

Savour the flavour of heirloom vegetables

Perfect for planting now...

Cabbage 'Early Jersey Wakefield'

A compact American heirloom cabbage with tight cone-shaped heads that can be harvested from just 10 weeks.

Beetroot Heirloom Mix

All the best heirloom beetroots in one punnet! This colourful mix of beets gives you tasty salad leaves too.

Broccoli 'Green Sprouting Calabrese'

An Italian heirloom that produces a large central head followed by broccolini-type offshoots for months.

Cauliflower 'Snowball'

This heirloom with crisp snow white heads is considered one of the finest flavoured cauliflowers.

Carrot 'Paris Market'

Perfect for pots, this is the only carrot suitable for transplanting because of its rounded golf ball-sized roots.

Spring Onion 'Red'

The queen of all spring onions. Versatile and delicious, these brilliant crimson bulbs are rich in antioxidants.

Celery 'Dorata D'Asti'

Popular throughout Europe and easy to grow, this self-blanching Italian variety produces crisp, stringless stalks.

Snow Pea 'Yokomo Giant'

A Japanese heirloom snow pea with incredibly large pods. Grow up a trellis as plants reach up to two metres.

Bean 'Scarlet Runner'

A climbing perennial green bean with long, crisp and tasty pods. The dried seeds are unique and highly decorative.

Tomato 'Principe Borghese'

The variety best suited to sundried and semi-sundried tomatoes, due to its low seed and moisture content.

Tomato 'Amish Paste'

This heirloom has a rich, sweet flavour, a hearty texture and a shape that's favourable for preserving whole.

Tomato 'Periforme Abruzzese'

An exquisite pear-shaped saucing tomato. The juicy fruit and luscious flavour put it among the all-time greats.

TOP TIPS FOR HEIRLOOM SEEDLING SUCCESS

1. Prepare your soil

Get your soil ready by weeding and digging over, preferably incorporating some well-rotted compost and aged manure.

2. Water seedlings prior to planting

Water your seedling punnets well at least 30 minutes prior to planting to help reduce transplant shock. Use a diluted seaweed solution if possible.

3. Be careful with roots and stems

Turn the punnet over, being careful to support the seedlings. Gently squeeze the sides to dislodge the potting mix and remove. Carefully separate the seedlings.

4. Plant in a prepared hole

Try to minimise root disturbance. Plant at the same height or just a fraction deeper than the seedlings were in their punnet.

5. Water well

Firm the soil down around seedlings to help secure them in the ground. Water the soil. Stake climbing or tall varieties if necessary.

6. Protect

Seedlings are prone to attack from snails and slugs. Use pet-safe snail pellets or beer traps to protect them during establishment.

ASIAN GREENS

This mix contains three great varieties: Pak Choi Green and Red, and Tatsoi. The leaves of all can be used in stir fries, salads, soups, Asian dishes or steamed.

GOURMET VEGIES

WINTER RANGE

KALE TUSCAN

Attractive, dark green, deeply savoyed, strap-like leaves. Use baby leaves to add texture and peppery taste to mixed salads.

BROCCOLI BABY

High in vitamins and rich in antioxidants. A sweet delicious flavour. Stems and small heads can be harvested continually for extended periods. Ideal for stir fries, steaming, pasta or salads.

CABBAGE MINI

Cabbage Mini produces a small headed mini cabbage that is great for small gardens and tubs. Use in stews, soups, salads, slaws and stir fries.

CAULIFLOWER MEDLEY MIX

Produces medium to large 10-15cm heads. The crisp edible stalks and flower heads can be used fresh, pickled or frozen. High in antioxidants, vitamins C and E and folate.

Starry Night

Life OUTDOORS

Leptospermum

Starry Night

An Australian native shrub prized for its unique, dark-purple foliage resembling a starry night sky. Clusters of bright, star-like pink flowers contrast against the dark backdrop, creating a visually striking effect. This compact and hardy evergreen is well-suited for gardens and provides year-round ornamental appeal.

Burgundy Queen

An evergreen shrub known for its striking, red foliage and rich, double burgundy flowers. Native to Australia, it thrives in well-drained soil and full sunlight. This low-maintenance plant is valued for its ornamental appeal, making it a popular choice in gardens and landscapes.

Pink Cascade

Leptospermum Pink Cascade is a cascading native shrub with delicate, pendulous branches. It features small, pink flowers that bloom profusely in spring and summer. With a weeping habit, it is often used as a ground cover or in hanging baskets, adding a graceful and colourful touch to landscapes.

Pyrostegia

Orange Trumpet Vine

A vigorous and fast-growing climber prized for its vibrant tubular flowers. The trumpet shaped blooms traditionally appear in clusters, covering the vine and creating a stunning display in Winter. Perfect for pergolas, fences, or trellises.

Geraldton Wax

These stunning hybrids from Helix Flowers, have been bred in Australia to handle our climate. Available in a wide range of colours, they make a perfect cut flower filler, with good vase life.

They develop into a rounded shrub and have a low water requirement once established. Their waxy flowers bring a welcome burst of colour to your garden in late winter and early spring. Bird attracting and great for the pollinators in our gardens.

Hebes

Hebe Kiwi

These new hybrid Hebes have performed extremely well in our Queensland environment. A compact shrub with glossy green leaves and bright, colourful flower spikes. With great disease resistance, and a long flowering period, these new Hebes will be a real stand out in your garden.

Life Indoors

African Violet

The latest addition to our range is this old time favourite. The latest breeding from Dummen Orange brings these old-world plants back, with large flowers and a uniform habit. Available in a wide range of colours including pinks, purples, blues and whites, with more colours to be added in the future. African violets make lovely indoor plants and with proper care, can provide year-round blooms.

Batik

Striking variegation on the leaves of the Batik, make it an appealing addition to the house plant collector. Syngoniums are easy to grow and easy to care for, making Batik a real winner.

Syngonium

Red Arrow

Red Arrow has dark, ruby red leaves and can be grown as a climber or hanger as it looks to branch out from the pot. Low maintenance and hardy, making it a good addition around the home or office.

Cebu Blue

Pothos

Pothos is a resilient and popular houseplant, renowned for its heart-shaped leaves and trailing vines. Adaptable to various light conditions, it thrives in low to bright, indirect light. Easy to care for, pothos is an excellent choice for beginners. Its air-purifying qualities and diverse varieties make it a versatile indoor favourite.
